

HANNAH ELIAS'S CHILD IN COURT

The Daughter Who Has Twice
Been Turned from Her Door Asks Magistrate Ommen for a Summons.

SISTER AND BROTHER
WANT PART OF HER CASH.

Court Refuses to Act Until Proof that the Girl Is Mrs. Elias's Daughter Is Furnished to Him
—She Wants $5,000.

Hannah Elias, the neeress whose name was brought into publicity by the murder of Andrew H. Green, is paying the penalty of exposed wealth. Persons anxious to share her fortune are besieging her on every hand.

Her daughter, whom she placed in charge of Travers Hudson, a Philadelphia negro elevator man sixteen years ago, has invoked the aid of the law in an effort to get $5,000 of the Elias wealth as recompense to Hudson, and her brothers and sisters have signified a desire to be declared eligible to the distribution.

From luxurious contentment in a Central Park West mansion, secure from prying eyes and inquisitive inquiries, the neeress with the remarkable history has been shifted into the limelight. Her servants report that she is too ill to see callers, a statement that can be readily credited. She might leave town, but her history is now so well known that it is doubtful if she could find a hiding place in which she could keep her identity a secret.

After two ineffectual attempts to gain entrance to the home of her mother, Clara Elias Hudson went to the West Side Police Court to-day with a lawyer named Allaire to seek advice. She told the Magistrate that she was anxious to see her mother, that admission had been denied her yesterday afternoon and last night, and that she desired some sort of legal license to force her way into the house at No. 226 Central Park West.

Magistrate Ommen listened to the story of the girl, who is quite intelligent. It appears that her neighbors in Philadelphia knew of her antecedents according to her own story. She says that she has suffered the taunts of her playmates since she was old enough to understand.

Lawyer Allaire said that the girl and her foster-father believed that it was time for Hannah Elias to do something for the daughter who was born to her in the Philadelphia almshouse. He insisted that the Court might take some step to force the Elias woman to take care of the girl, even though she would not open the house to her.

Magistrate Ommen said that first of all he would have to be shown proof that Hannah Elias is the mother of Clara Hudson. With such proof, he said, it would be necessary for the Court to show that she is in danger of becoming a public charge before he could take any steps to force her mother to take care of her. He expressed a willingness to issue a summons for Hannah Elias if the daughter can produce the requisite evidence.

It is understood that Hudson will be content with $5,000 of the money of Hannah Elias for the care and expense he has been subjected to. According to his statement, the woman has not contributed anything to the support of the child and has kept him in ignorance of the fact that she is a heavy owner of New York real estate and has been living at the rate of $3,000 a year.

David Elias, who has been working toward him, was a porter at the Victoria Hotel up to yesterday, when he resigned by telephone. The person who took his message he said that he did not expect to toll for quite some time.

He, too, made an effort to reach Hannah Elias last night, but was no more successful than his daughter had been. Nevertheless he has expressed a determination to persevere. He had trouble with his sister when she lived in West Fifty-third street, and was as much astounded as anybody to learn that she is living in one of the best mansions in Central Park West, with a household of servants and a string of horses and carriages.

Society Hears that the Final Divorce Decree Is to Be Entered This Week and the Marriage to Follow Immediately.

Society is much interested in the report that Mrs. Belle Kemp is to marry Hollis H. Hunnewell at Newport next Saturday, immediately after securing her decree of divorce.

A special session of the Appellate Division is to be held by a Judge of the Supreme Court to grant final decrees in a number of petitions of divorce which were heard six months ago. Mrs. Kemp's petition is one of them.

Mrs. Kemp is a Catholic and Mr. Hunnewell an Episcopalian. As the ceremonies of neither of these churches will marry divorced persons, much speculation is being indulged in as to who will perform the ceremony. Under the law of the State only ministers or elders of established churches, justices of the Supreme Court, or, in the case of New Shoreham, Wardens of that town, can perform marriage ceremonies.

It is believed that the Supreme Court Justice who grants the decree will marry the couple.

The wedding is to be very quiet, no cards being issued for it.

THREE DAUGHTERS OF DON CARLOS, FAMOUS PRETENDER TO THE THRONE OF SPAIN, WHO HAVE BECOME INVOLVED IN SCANDALS THAT HAVE MADE SENSATIONS IN EUROPE.

THUG'S VICTIM NEAR TO DEATH

Horace Ashby, of Mt. Vernon, Waylaid and Beaten by High-waymen, Who Laid in Wait for Him.

Horace Ashby, one of the best known young men in Mount Vernon, is believed to be lying in the Mount Vernon Hospital from a fractured skull, which he says was inflicted by two highwaymen early to-day while he was on his way home. Coroner Weisendanger, of Yonkers, has been called upon to take the dying man's ante-mortem statement.

Ashby, who was a first sergeant in the Eighth Regiment during the Spanish-American war, was found unconscious in the rear of Mott's Stables, on Fifthteenth avenue, near Second street. He was taken to the hospital, where he rallied sufficiently to tell detectives Lynch and Atwell that as he was passing through West Third street at about 3 o'clock this morning two highwaymen sprang out from behind trees near the corner of Fourteenth avenue and struck him on the head with some heavy weapon. The wounded man believes that the footpads used a club. Ashby fell to the sidewalk and that is the last he remembered until he awoke in the hospital.

The detectives have learned that Ashby had been drinking in several saloons in the city during the night and that he exhibited a large sum of money. They believe that the highwaymen met Ashby during the evening and followed him to the vicinity of Mount Vernon. Among the notable hold-ups of late have been those of Mrs. Daniel Scott, of South Sixth avenue, who was held up Saturday evening, and Miss Lillian Imrie, private secretary to former State Senator, who was held up Sunday.

Within the last two weeks there have been three robberies committed within the vicinity of Mount Vernon. Among the notable hold-ups of late have been those of Mrs. Daniel Scott, of South Sixth avenue, who was held up Saturday evening, and Miss Lillian Imrie, private secretary to former State Senator, who was held up Sunday.

Albert Stahl, Who Was to Have Been Married on Christmas,
Inhales Gas Because of Ill Health and Poverty.

Out of work, suffering from blood-poison and knowing that he could not keep his troth with the woman he had pledged to marry on Christmas Day, Albert Stahl, forty-nine years old, committed suicide in Providence by inhaling gas. He went to Providence to better his fortunes. He formerly lived with his foster parents at No. 238 East Eighty-fourth street.

Stahl was engaged to marry Mary L. Zellmer, of No. 32 East Eighty-fourth street. Of late Stahl has had a hard fight to get along. His health has not been of the best and employment did not come easy to him. His one hope was the impending marriage with Miss Zellmer, to whom he had been engaged for several years.

Among the effects of the man were found cheering letters from the young woman. She wrote to him to keep up the battle and all would be well in the end. A letter not yet sent to her was also found.

Stahl was adopted by the family whose name he bore when a baby. He was raised by them as if he was their own son. During all the years of his life he was never dissociated from them. His body will be buried in Providence.

DR. BLINN IS MISSING AGAIN

Physician Accused by County Medical Society Fails to Appear in Police Court and Grand Jury Indicts Him.

Dr. Francis Gray Blinn, who was arrested at his "sanitarium" at No. 155 West Forty-seventh street last Sunday when, the District Attorney alleges, he was about to perform a criminal operation upon a woman patient, was indicted to-day by the Grand Jury. The doctor failed to appear in the Tombs Court at 10 o'clock, the hour set for his examination, and Magistrate Flammer declared his bail bond of $1,000 forfeited. It was furnished by James Hand, a junkman, of No. 533 West Fifty-fifth street.

Mrs. Mary Miller, a nurse at the "sanitarium," was indicted with Dr. Blinn. She appeared in court, but had no examination, as the case was taken before Judge Cowing for pleading.

When Dr. Blinn was indicted for a similar offense some years ago he fled from the city, forfeiting his bail, and did not return for five years. He is now prosecuting the case against Blinn, said after it was seen that Blinn was not on hand, that the reason he had asked for no higher bail was because it was anticipated that the physician would be indicted by the Grand Jury yesterday afternoon. Owing to Judge Cowing's absence the jury did not hand up the papers.

"There was a lot of stuff moved out of Mr. Blinn's sanitarium yesterday," said Mr. Lord, "and perhaps he won't show up here at all."

Ex-Judge Wauhope Lynn, Blinn's counsel, was in court. He said that the case was taken at the instance of the prosecution yesterday and that his client did not show up the blame rest on the District Attorney's office.

Blinn's arrest was at the instance of the County Medical Society, which had been for six months in a small seal. At 11 o'clock Mr. Lord, after a conference with Magistrate Flammer, sent County Detective Reardon out in a hurry. Mr. Lord said:

"I think I know where Blinn is, and I hope to have him in court in an hour."

When Mrs. Miller was arraigned before Judge Cowing her counsel, ex-Judge Lynn, pleaded not guilty for her. He said that if a crime had been committed she was not a principal, but simply an accessory. Young was only a nurse employed by Blinn. He asked to learn the minutes of the Grand Jury to learn with what crime she was charged, and also asked that bail be fixed for her.

Mr. Lord wanted the bail set at $5,000. After argument it was put at $2,500 by Judge Cowing.

When the amount was named the woman burst into tears, and as the court officers lead her across the Bridge of Signs into the Tombs she grew hysterical. It was said that she would not be able to get a bondsmen.

James Hand, bondsmen for Dr. Blinn, was not at his home this afternoon. A member of his family said that he went on duty frequently for persons arrested at the West Third-seventh street station and that he did not know Dr. Blinn personally.

SERVANT GIRL SUES MILLIONAIRE

Trial Begun of Anna Cornell's Action Against Newberry D.
Lawton, Who, She Alleges, Threw Her Out of His Villa.

The trial of the suit of Anna Cornell, a servant girl, against Newberry D. Lawton, millionaire, yachtman and a member of the Regatta Committee of the New York Yacht Club, for $1,500 damages for alleged assault, when he evicted her from his villa on Davenport Neck at New Rochelle on Oct. 7, was begun to-day before Judge Platt and a jury in the Westchester County Court at White Plains.

Miss Cornell was represented by former Corporation Counsel Michael J. Tierney, of New Rochelle, who in his opening address said she had been employed as cook by Mr. Lawton and that she was discharged before she had worked a month. He said she was paid only $2 and that she called to collect the balance of $5.

Miss Cornell testified that she was employed by Mr. Lawton on Sept. 30 as a cook at $25 a month, and she worked until Oct. 6, when Mrs. Lawton went into the kitchen and she had hired a new cook. She said she told Mrs. Lawton she had four days of a month due, but Mrs. Lawton gave her only $20.

"I came back the next evening," she said, "and told Mrs. Lawton I had come for my $5. I went in the laundry. Mr. Lawton came in like a wild bull. He pulled me off the chair and he threw me on the stones by the back door. I hit my side and it was all black and blue. Mr. Lawton told me to get out of there. The fall broke one of my ribs."

"Did you go to a doctor?" "Yes, I went to Dr. Lyons." "You mean to say your rib is broken?" "Yes, one of my ribs is broken." "You didn't use bad language?" "No, sir, I didn't say anything of any kind." "Did Mrs. Lawton tell you to leave the premises?" "Yes, but I didn't. The kitchen door was open and I walked in and sat down."

Mr. Lawton says the servant told him of lies and that he can prove by the other servants that he did not assault her. Mrs. Lawton also will testify.

NEW TREATY IN IRON BOX.

Panama Commissioners Carry Document to Steamship for Colon Authorities.

Frederick Boyd and Dr. M. Amador, the Panama Commissioners who came to this country to frame the new canal treaty, went to the Panama Railroad Steamship Company's pier at the foot of West Twenty-seventh street to-day and delivered the new treaty to the purser of the City of Washington. The treaty will be in the charge of that official and will be by him delivered to the authorities in Colon. They will send it to Panama. The Commissioners brought the treaty down in a small seal-iron box. They took the greatest care of it and did not allow it to get out of their sight until it had been turned over to the purser and they had his acknowledgment.

BOYS' ARREST A MISTAKE.

Had Been Falsely Accused of Stealing a Watch.

Charles R. Dodge, a twenty-three years old, and Clarence E. Carpenter, nineteen years old, both of wealthy families in Amsterdam, N. Y., where they are employed in a bank, were arraigned in the Tombs Court to-day, charged with stealing a watch valued at sixty cents from Henry Schneider, a seventy years old, in the gallery of the Stock Exchange.

Schneider did not see any one take the watch, but concluded that Dodge and Carpenter had stolen it, and that they were standing near him and caused their arrest. Dodge and Carpenter were held in custody until they could be shown valuable gold watches of their own, besides plenty of money, and the family connections in Amsterdam, by telegraphic advices from Amsterdam. They were discharged.

SISTERS CONCEAL DEATH MYSTERY

They Threaten if Possible to Prevent Jamaica Coroner from Holding Autopsy on Their Brother's Body.

There was a lively scene in the Coroner's court-room at Jamaica to-day when Bessie Clark and her sister Julia Clark were asked to testify as to the cause of their brother, Thomas Clark, of No. 67 Borden avenue, Long Island City.

On Sunday night last Coroner Ruoff went to the house on Borden avenue to view the body and while there asked several questions of the two sisters, who, the Coroner says, had been drinking, and refused to give him any information. Failing to get any statement from them, he decided to subpoena them before him. They were notified to appear here to-day and tell what they knew. Both the women are about twenty-five years old.

Bessie Clark, when placed on the stand, refused to tell the Coroner anything about her brother's death. She caused a commotion by declaring "You have caused all this trouble and you will have to answer to your God for this, too."

The Coroner then told the woman that unless she answered his questions he would hold an autopsy on the body, and then she told him that he could not get anything from the woman, ordered Dr. Strong, his physician, to go to the house on Borden avenue and hold the autopsy.

There was a protest from the woman, who left the court room, but the body would not be taken from the house.

NEW NAMES FOR OLD STREETS.

Washington Heights Thoroughfares to Have Historical Ones.

Historical and appropriate names are wanted for the ugly and inadequate ones of the streets and avenues of the Washington Heights district. The Local Board of Improvements for that district met to-day in the City Hall, Borough President Cantor presiding.

Reginald Pelham Balton, Chairman of the society, urged the renaming of the thoroughfares, suggesting those of American Generals and patriots instead.

President Cantor announced he will appoint a committee to determine the historical names for Washington Heights thoroughfares.

THIRD PRINCESS IN A SCANDAL

Disappearance of Alice, Wife of Involves Don Carlos's Family.

TWO OTHER DAUGHTERS IN SENSATIONAL ESCAPADES.

One Eloped with an Artist Who

BERLIN, Nov. 24.—Princess Alice, wife of Prince Frederick of Schoenberg-Waldenburg, is the third daughter of Don Carlos, the Bourbon pretender to the Spanish throne, to become involved in a great scandal.

At the palace of the Princess court officials declare she is traveling; that her present whereabouts are unknown. It is said here, however, that she is in Italy, where she went three months ago, taking her baby boy, eighteen months old, with her.

Princess Alice is a Catholic, and Prince Frederick adopted her faith on marrying her. This caused his father to cut off his allowance. Don Carlos, who also objected to the marriage, refused to assist the young couple, and they led a wretched existence for three years.

Prince Frederick then left his wife and returned to his father's home. The Princess entered a convent and remained there until 1901, when she went to China as a nurse in the Russian Red Cross service.

Elvira Marie Therese Henriette, the second child of Don Carlos, eloped with an artist by the name of Polchot on July 23, 1897. He was an Italian painter of some note and after painting the portrait of the Infanta Elvira, as she was known, the two disappeared together.

Her sister, Duchess d'Antico-Canado, also Princess Massimo, was a figure in the aristocratic circles of Rome. One night while returning from a ball at which all European courts were represented she jumped into the Tiber. She was clad in her ball costume and fairly blazed with jewels.

She was rescued by some of her ardent admirers with the aid of Italian fishermen who happened to be on the quay.

The fourth daughter is Blanche de Castille, who has led a life of comparative repose. In the various gossip and scandalous manifestations of conduct she has not so far figured.

HOW I GREW TALL.

A STARTLING STORY WHICH WILL INTEREST ALL WHO ARE SHORT.

The Height of Either Sex Can Quickly Be Increased from Two to Five Inches—
These Marvellous Results Can Be Accomplished at Home. Without the Knowledge of Your Most Intimate Friends.

The Free Book Tells You
All About It.

MR. K. LEO MINGES
Inventor, scientists and physicians have for years been trying to find some method whereby the height of an individual could be increased, and up to the past few years have met with failure. It remains for a comparatively young man, Mr. K. Leo Minges by name, to discover what so many others had failed to do. Y.
Mr. Minges resides in Rochester, N. Y., and has devoted the best part of his life to studies and experimenting on the Cartilage, and his great efforts have at last been crowned with success. A large company composed of Rochester's leading citizens has been formed for the purpose of placing Mr. Minges's discovery and inventions before the public, so that now it is possible for any lady or gentleman who is short to increase her or his height from two to five inches. These results are absolutely guaranteed.

Mr. Minges has successfully used his method on himself, and has grown from a short, stunted boy to a handsome, robust man of six feet one inch in height. Thousands of people living in all parts of the world are using his method with equally as startling results. Let us send you the absolute proof of the above statements.
We have just issued a beautifully illustrated book entitled "The Secrets of How to Grow Tall," which contains all the information that will surprise you. Ten thousand of these remarkable books will be given away absolutely free of charge in given time. This is a great opportunity. If you fail to receive a book, you will regret it.
This book tells how Mr. Minges made his wonderful discovery. It contains the pictures and statements of many who have used this method. After you receive the book, you will be able to place your own case in the hands of a professional man, and you will be able to place your own case in the hands of a professional man.

Remember, a postal card will bring it to your very door. All charges prepaid.
